PSVeeter is an informative application to remove multimedia content from your PlayStation Vita. The application was designed in order to help you clean up your content without having to access the software that comes preloaded onto your Vita. The application will allow you to easily add, remove or get a list of all the multimedia files and folders on your PS Vita. The application works by using a system of folders and files that are pre-loaded on your PS Vita.

This allows you to easily add, remove or get a list of all the multimedia files and folders on your PS Vita. When adding a content to your PS Vita, a list of all files that have been added will be listed along with the length of the video and also how many times it has been played.

The application also has a system of an items tray that will hold all of the files that have been deleted from your Vita.

Comments This application is simply a waste of time. You see, that's the only way a PSVITA will be ever fully clean. If you still want to work on that, try

with CMA, there are different
advantages for it.
@Airin - Your logic
of removing
backup content on
PS Vita is good,
but that's not the
way with CMA.
Those files will be there even with
CMA. The question
is how to remove
it. You have to go back to setting menu, and there is a button which is labeled Restore Content. Try that, then you'll see.

However, I have a great question for you. Those backup content files, how many GBs space do they occupy? Or is it enough, if you delete that multimedia

content on CMA,
the space will be back? I am not answering your question. What you have to understand is that the backup
content on CMA
are there only as a device to back up
your game content
if you have another Vita or your PS4 is damaged. Your PS Vita is by no means a device to back up any multimedia content. Your videos are added with the PS Vita, but your music and pictures are stored in your PS3 or PS4. If you delete the videos or picture, there will not be any space left on your Vita. I really hope you understand. This application is simply a waste of time. You see, that's the only way a PSVITA will be ever fully clean. If you still want to work on that, try with C
